hope that you will accept from us the portrait of the one painted by the other as a mark of our sincere admiration and respect.

Barrington, Robert Bourke, Henry Chaplin, W. Romaine Callender, George Cubitt, W. Hart Dyke, Henry W. Eaton, Alex. Staveley Hill, Henry G-. Lennox, John Manners, Charles H. Mills, Mahon, Henry W. Peek, Henry Cecil Raikes, Sandou, W, H. Smith, Newport, Fred. Stanley, G-erard Sturt, C. Sykes, Eichard Wallace, Row. Winn, H. Drurnmond Wolff.

Disraeli addressed his acknowledgment to Lord Barrington.

2, WHITEHALL GABDESS,
July 12,1875.

MY DEAR BARRINGTON,

Do me the favour of expressing to those members of the House of Commons who, with yourself, have made me an offering, which I infinitely value, the gratitude and the gratification which I feel at this graceful act of friendship, and my sense of the refined manner in which it has been conveyed. Yours ever,

B. DISRAELI.